Contract type	Fixed term

Overview of the role

A fixed-term role is available for a limited time to provide cover for the teaching commitments and supervision duties of Dr Zuzanna Olszewska (maternity leave) and the leave commitments of several other members of staff.

The post-holder will be expected to deliver teaching on social anthropology topics such as the history of British social anthropology to a mixed cohort of undergraduate and postgraduate students, to contribute to postgraduate classes and seminars, and to offer a module on ethnographic research methods. He or she may also be asked to contribute to other lecture series such as Key Topics in Anthropology or Current Themes in Social Anthropology. The post-holder will supervise MSc students, covering a broad range of topics drawn from the core syllabus of the MSc in Social Anthropology degree.

The School is seeking an enthusiastic teacher and lecturer with both breadth and depth of knowledge of the key subject area of the post and a full command of the relevant literature.

Responsibilities/duties

- Undertake advanced academic study to underpin teaching.
- Lecture, tutor, and supervise graduate students as assigned by the Course Director or Head of School.
- Produce lecture notes, course materials, reading lists, and reference guides and convene lecture series.

- Engage in assessments and university examining if requested by the Head of School.
- Supervise or co-supervise a number of dissertations.
- Be first contact for student matters relating to attendance, conduct, coursework, performance, and welfare (referring matters to appropriate others).
- Participate and assist in lectures, seminars, workshops and conferences organised by the School as part of their programmes.
- Liaise with examiners and academic staff regarding teaching arrangements and student performance, and with funding bodies, stakeholders, and researchers in related fields to share information and expertise.
- Carry out administrative duties, including filling out termly student reports, attending Teaching Committee and other committees as directed by the Head of School.
- Assist the Director of Graduate Studies or Chair of Examiners if requested by the Head of School.

Selection criteria

- A doctorate in a relevant field.
- Some experience of teaching demonstrating the aptitude to deliver teaching to graduate students of high calibre, and to carry out student assessment.
- Sufficient depth and breadth of knowledge in the subject to develop course materials and research proposals.
- A publication record and in-depth familiarity with the existing literature and research in the field.
- The ability to supervise advanced degree students.

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford's researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, while providing all our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that enables everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is our strength, vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual's unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe's most entrepreneurial universities. Income from external research contracts in 2014/15 exceeded £522.9m and we rank first in the UK for university spin-outs, with more than 130 companies created to date. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford.

School of Anthropology and Museum Ethnography

SAME is renowned for its contributions to anthropological theory, its commitment to long-term ethnographic fieldwork, and its association with the Pitt Rivers Museum and the anthropology of visual and material culture. It has also become known as a centre for medical and ecological anthropology, migration studies, evolutionary anthropology, cognition and culture, and science and technology studies.

Home to over sixty members of academic staff and researchers, over a hundred doctoral students, nine Master's programmes, and two undergraduate degrees, Oxford anthropology is one of the world's largest and most exciting centres for teaching and research in the discipline.

The School brings together a number of institutes including the Institute of Human Sciences (IHS), home to our undergraduate programme. The Institute of Social and Cultural Anthropology (ISCA) is a world-leading centre for anthropological teaching and research. The Centre on Migration, Policy and Society (COMPAS) provides a strategic, integrated research approach to understanding contemporary and future migration dynamics in the UK and EU. The Institute of Cognitive and Evolutionary Anthropology (ICEA) investigates the evolution of human behaviour drawing on a diverse range of approaches, including biology, primatology, paleoanthropology, cultural evolution, and psychology. ICEA includes the Centre for Anthropology and Mind (CAM). The Institute for Science, Innovation and Society (InSIS) researches and informs the key processes of social and technological innovation that are critical to business, governments and civil society in the 21st century and beyond.

The School strives for a culture that is transparent, inclusive and supportive for all its staff and students. We have achieved Bronze Level Athena SWAN accreditation and we are committed to supporting all staff who wish to undertake a rewarding career whilst maintaining a balance with their home and family lives.

More information about the School can be found at www.anthro.ox.ac.uk.

Social Sciences Division

The Social Sciences Division is a world-leading centre of research and education in the social sciences. The social sciences at Oxford are distinctive for both their depth and breadth, with activity spanning fourteen departments and faculties and one cross-divisional unit. Interdisciplinary links within and beyond the university are strong, extending to the humanities, natural sciences, and medical sciences.

Academic and research staff and research students are engaged in world-leading research that challenges current ideas and theories and is tackling some of the major challenges facing humanity, such as sustainable resource management, migration, governance, poverty and development, and justice. REF 2014 confirmed Oxford as the UK powerhouse for research in the social sciences, where Oxford accounted for more world-leading (4*) research than any other institution, across the social sciences units of assessment to which it made submissions. The division also delivers an exceptional range of high quality educational programmes (undergraduate, postgraduate taught and postgraduate research), all of which are underpinned by the innovative research being undertaken by our academics. For more information please visit: <http://www.socsci.ox.ac.uk/>

Important information for candidates

Pre-employment screening

Please note that the appointment of the successful candidate will be subject to standard pre-employment screening, as applicable to the post. This will include right-to-work, proof of identity and references. We advise all applicants to read the candidate notes on the University's pre-employment screening procedures, found at:

www.ox.ac.uk/about/jobs/preemploymentscreening/.

The University's policy on retirement

The University operates an Employer Justified Retirement Age (EJRA) for all academic posts and some academic-related posts. From 1 October 2017, the University has adopted an EJRA of 30 September before the 69th birthday for all academic and academic-related staff in posts at grade 8 and above. The justification for this is explained at:

www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/acrelretire8+/.

For existing employees, any employment beyond the retirement age is subject to approval through the procedures: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/acrelretire8+/.

From 1 October 2017, there is no normal or fixed age at which staff in posts at grades 1–7 have to retire. Staff at these grades may elect to retire in accordance with the rules of the applicable pension scheme, as may be amended from time to time.

Equality of Opportunity

Entry into employment with the University and progression within employment will be determined only by personal merit and the application of criteria which are related to the duties of each particular post and the relevant salary structure. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. No applicant or member of staff shall be discriminated against because of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, or sexual orientation.
